Research carried out by the BCO to be included in the guide shows that the amount of space each employee uses in a building has dramatically fallen. In the last decade, it stood generally between 12-17m<sup>2</sup> per person. Today, it is closer to 8-13m<sup>2</sup> per person. "There has been a significant shift," says Pennell.

Log in - British Council for Offices

An independent poll commissioned by the British Council for Offices (BCO) shows that, once government measures allow, Britain is set to move to a 'mixed' working style, where time in the office is balanced with time working from home. The survey of 2000 office workers suggests that over the next 6 months 30% of office workers intend to work from the office
